State Supplies 4,681 Troops To New Army

LANSING (UPI) — Governor George Romney announced Wednesday Michigan has been asked to supply 4,681 National Guard and reserve troops to a selected reserve force to support the Army in an emergency. Romney said the men will be manned, equipped and trained to a level that will make them immediately available to support the active army. Twenty Army National Guard units in Michigan will be affected by the new plan to bring the units up to 100 per cent of their authorized wartime strength and equipment level. Maj. Gen. Clarence C. Schnipke, the adjutant general of Michigan, told Romney 3,610 guardsmen will be affected by the move and 1,071 reserves. Ten U.S. Army reserve units will be included in the plan. Schnipke reported the manpower requirement to Romney Wednesday following a special briefing in Washington Tuesday. Increase Combat Readiness Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara announced last month he was taking steps to increase the combat readiness of selected Army National Guard and Army reserve units. The move involves about 150,000 guardsmen and reservists throughout the U.S. The 137th Engineer Company (East bridge) of Sault Ste. Marie and Cheboygan was the only guard unit named for the selected reserve force.

Nobel Medical Prize Awarded To French Trio

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The $56,400 Nobel medicine prize for 1965 was awarded to Professors Francois Jacob, Andre Lwoff and Jacques Monod, all of France. The medicine award was the first of this year's prizes to be announced. The announcement was made by Professor Sven Gaard, spokesman for the Nobel Committee. The choice of a winner was made by the vote of about 30 scientists on the staff of the Caroline Institute. The prize will be presented at a banquet here Dec. 10, 69th anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel, founder of the awards. Discover Genes The Caroline Institute said the three Frenchmen were given the prize for discovering "a new class of genes" in the human body. Jacob, Lwoff and Monod are all with the Pasteur Institute in Paris. They will split the prize money equally. Professor Jacob is an expert in cell genetics, while Professor Lwoff is a microbiologist and Professor Monod is a chemist. Gaard, who made the announcement, said the splitting of the prize between three scientists working in different fields of medicine "is typical because no scientific branch can exist and develop today without aid from others." Professor Jacob, at 35, is the youngest laureate. Lwoff is 63 and Monod 55. Genes Send Signals The announcement said the French group discovered "a previously unknown class of genes whose function is to regulate the activity of other genes." It said these "regulatory" genes send out chemical signals which are received by other regulatory genes. These in turn switch on or off the "structural" genes which direct the synthesis of enzymes and other proteins. Professor Gaard said the Frenchmen's discovery "has no practical purpose so far." But he predicted it would play a great role in future research.

House Approves Tax Relief For State Elderly Renters

Negroes Again Try Bus Blitz

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — A group of Negro students, disregarding a promise made to a federal court by their leader, today attempted again to board segregated buses carrying white children to schools in adjacent counties. The young Negroes caught the troopers completely by surprise. They bolted and scattered across the lawn near the busloading zone with troopers in pursuit. Some of them were tackled by the troopers and one policeman was almost run over by a moving bus. Calvin Turner, leader of the local civil rights movement, promised a federal court in Augusta Wednesday that the Negro demonstrators would stop the daily bus boarding attempts and stick to picketing. Bus Misses Trooper But the Negro students this morning threw down their picket signs and bolted toward the unsuspecting troopers. One trooper fell chasing a Negro girl and a moving bus managed to halt about two feet from where he was sprawled on the ground. After the unsuccessful bus boarding attempt, Willie Bolden, a representative of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), was asked why the young Negroes had broken the promise made by their leader to the federal court. With a grin, Bolden replied: "That's just one of those things."

Bill Provides Direct Rebate For Residents

LANSING (UPI) — Elderly renters and insurance companies were the chief recipients of multi-million dollar bonanzas as the House wrapped up its next-to-last day of debate for the year Wednesday. In a marathon eight-hour session, the House voted a rent relief program to senior citizens estimated to cost about $6 million and also passed a bill to require uninsured motorist coverage in new auto insurance policies unless the purchaser rejects it. Opponents of the insurance bill quickly pointed out it would drop millions of dollars of business into the insurance companies' hands and would at the same time almost make the new Motor Vehicle Accident Claim Fund totally useless. Companion Bill The rent bill, a companion measure to the Property Tax Relief for Senior Citizens Act passed earlier this year, would grant direct reimbursement to state residents if they: —Are over 65 or totally disabled. —Lived in a home or apartment with a state equalized value of not more than $10,000. —Have a combined income of not more than $5,000 a year. —Have lived in the state for seven years out of the last 10 and lived in the state for at least six months each year. The bill ran into trouble from several representatives who objected to the administration of the program. Rep. H. James Starr, D-Lansing, tried to amend the bill to cut out actual assessments of property and to substitute flat reimbursement based on $2,500 of equalized valuation. His proposal failed, and the bill squeaked by with just three more votes than needed for passage, 59-38, despite pleas from some members to hold it over until today so lawmakers could study the plan. Explain Votes In explaining his "no" vote, Starr charged the age criterion was "illogical and inequitable" and the administration provisions were "difficult and expensive."

Storms Hamper Cuban Refugees

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Forecasts of more stormy weather at sea promised to bottle up for a second day today the small boat shuttle of Cuban refugees to freedom. The weather bureau predicted winds up to 25 miles an hour and rough seas in the 90-mile-wide Florida Straits between the Florida Keys and Cuba. The Coast Guard reported it had no report of small boats leaving the embarkation port at Camarioca, Cuba, bound for this country since Tuesday night. Boats Waiting As many as five boats were reported waiting at Camarioca to head for Florida carrying refugees, but were hemmed in by the rough weather.

U.S. Atomic Subs Collide In Drill

HONOLULU (UPI) — Two nuclear-powered submarines collided Wednesday night off the island of Oahu while on submerged maneuvers. There were no casualties and only superficial damage to one of the submarines was reported by the Navy. A Navy spokesman said the USS Sargo and USS Barb returned to port under their own power. The collision took place about 15 miles west of Barber's Point on the island of Oahu about 6 p.m. HST while the two nuclear-powered submarines were "conducting routine, submerged training operations."

JOHNSON MENDING, STILL NEEDS ADDITIONAL REST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson rounds out his first week in the hospital today — on the mend but more tired than he expected to be from his major surgery. The Chief Executive had nothing but more rest and recuperation on his schedule for his seventh day in Bethesda Naval Hospital. He entered his third-floor suite last Thursday night to prepare for the operation the next morning that removed his gall bladder and a kidney stone. Johnson is moving around more, even lying on his right side where the incision was made, but he tires easily. The tone of White House reports on his condition is that he is getting well but it will take a while. There is still no official estimate of when Johnson will leave the hospital and return to the White House. His doctors said before the surgery he should remain hospitalized about 10 days or two weeks. White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Wednesday night that the President said he was more tired than he thought he would be at this stage of recovery.

Atlantic Rips Swedish Ship

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Swedish freighter Orion rode out a gale-force north Atlantic storm that split its main deck in three places and reported today it was out of danger. The Coast Guard here said the master of the 4,250-ton vessel advised a rescue cutter standing by that it planned to make repairs and proceed toward its destination of Toledo, Ohio. The 360-foot Swedish ship, with 30 crewmen aboard, broadcast an SOS Wednesday afternoon after 50-foot waves and 65-mile an hour winds wrenched its deck, pouring water into its hull. The U.S. Coast Guard cutter Northwind responded to the SOS and rendezvoused with the Orion at 3 a.m. EDT today 350 miles south of Iceland. Both vessels had been riding out the storm with the Northwind ready to attempt a perilous rescue if necessary. But by 6 a.m. EDT the storm began abating as winds dropped to 40 miles an hour and waves went down to 20 to 35 feet.

Court Listens

The federal tribunal in Augusta is hearing complaints from Negroes that the Crawfordville white school was closed to avoid desegregation. The white students are being transported daily to schools in nearby counties.

Wednesday night Col. Lowell Conner, head of the Georgia highway patrol, persuaded the "Black Knights" of the Ku Klux Klan to leave town in an effort to relieve the racial tensions.

Reserves Play Larger Role In Defense Force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The organized Army reserve is being called upon to furnish more than twice as many men as originally anticipated for the "selected" reserve force brought to combat readiness for possible duty in Viet Nam. The Pentagon Wednesday released a complete list of the 976 Army reserve and National Guard units that will be included in the 150,000-man force. The list identified units in each of the 50 states that will be used to support the three 15,000-man infantry divisions and six 4,000-man brigades that had been announced earlier as the core of the force. It showed 119,000 troops from the National Guard and 31,000 from the Army reserves.

George Washington Elected President

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Another George Washington is president. George Washington, 18, Dearborn, was elected Wednesday as president of the freshman class at Kalamazoo College. Unofficially he was dubbed "the father of his class."

U.S. Scientists Orbit Laboratory

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — U.S. scientists sent aloft a bug-like satellite carrying equipment for 20 separate experiments today in a pre-dawn launch. It was the second of the OGO (Orbiting Geophysical Observatory) series. A federal space agency spokesman said the second stage of the Thor-Agena D rocket booster combination fired properly and all that remained was to confirm that it obtained its planned polar orbit.

Guerrilla Battalions Rake Vietnamese Ranger Group

SAIGON (UPI) — Two battalions of hard-core Viet Cong guerrillas killed or wounded scores of Vietnamese government rangers Wednesday night in all-out fighting in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman reported today. A small team of American advisers accompanying the 500 Vietnamese troops also suffered heavy casualties. A Vietnamese photographer for the Associated Press was killed earlier in the action. The battle took place about 15 miles south of Can Tho and involved 500 government troops and an estimated 1,000 Viet Cong. The number of Americans with the Vietnamese battalion was not disclosed. Battle Continues The government forces were on a major sweep of Communist-dominated delta country which began early Wednesday. About 11 p.m., the Communists attacked in force, inflicting scores of casualties. The U.S. spokesman said the ranger battalion was still in fighting shape and the operation was continuing.

Can Tho is situated about 85 miles southwest of Saigon. At Da Nang, about 385 miles northeast of the capital, a U.S. Navy man was killed and 11 others injured, one seriously, when two boats collided in the Da Nang River. The slain photographer was identified as Huynh Thanh My, 29, who had been on combat assignments for 17 months. He was wounded in the arm Wednesday afternoon and later was fatally shot in the neck while awaiting evacuation from the zone. Bombers Attack U.S. B52 bombers from Guam today again attacked Communist targets in the "iron triangle" zone northwest of Saigon. The Strategic Air Command (SAC) jets have been supporting U.S. paratroopers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade, now in the 11th day of a search-and-destroy mission 20 miles from Saigon. Elements of the U.S. Army's 1st Cavalry Division today took over high ground overlooking strategic highway 19 in the central highlands, enabling a 200-truck convoy to move to Pleiku from the big U.S. supply base at Qui Nhon. It was the largest convoy to travel the strategic route in three months. Route 19 bisects South Viet Nam and is the major road linking Pleiku with Qui Nhon.

Defense Dept. Steps Up Draft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department today stepped up the draft call again, setting a quota of 45,224 men for the Army and Marine Corps in December. The Selective Service call was more than 10,000 men higher than the 35,000-a-month rate originally set by President Johnson. It compared with a quota of 36,450 for November. The Defense Department said the Army would get 40,200 of the December draftees, and that 5,024 would go into the Marine Corps. Including enlistments, the Army expects to get 47,900 recruits during December. The Marines are shooting for 8,424. The services are engaged in 340,000-man buildup for the Viet Nam crisis. The buildup will bring them to a total strength of slightly more than 3 million men. Though the Navy is taking 4,000 draftees during November, the department said that service would rely on enlistments during December. Prevent Monopoly The letters following the publication in newspapers about the state of an advertisement by the Kroger Co., claiming the price of milk would go up if the measure passed. Proponents of the measure also said they hoped the bill could prevent a monopoly situation from arising in the milk industry. Motorists without insurance who expect to get a license this year would have to pay an uninsured motorist fee of $50 under one amendment passed by the Senate. The Senate also passed, by a 38-0 vote, a bill to give immediate effect to a House measure providing homestead tax exemptions for persons over 65. Senior citizens would receive a tax exemption on the first $2,500 of their property if it does not exceed $10,000 state equalized valuation. Quick Action They also must not have an income of more than $5,000 to be eligible for the tax break. Both the uninsured motorist fee and deductible factor amendments must be concurred by a House-Senate Conference Committee before adoption. Senate Majority Leader Raymond D. Dandzel, D-Detroit, said the uninsured motorist bill would have to be acted upon immediately by the governor because license plates go on sale Nov. 1. Persons without insurance would have to pay the $50 fee as proposed in the Senate amendment before obtaining a license plate. Michigan's 3.6 million owners of motor vehicles would have to pay $1 into the fund when they buy plates for their vehicles. The Secretary of State's office estimated there are $50,000 uninsured motorists. The fund would begin accepting claims Jan. 1. Salaries Voted Salaries of the department heads, in most cases, remained the same with the exception of the labor director's salary. Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the labor director's salary should be boosted from $12,500 to $18,500 "to attract a capable person to do the right kind of job." Labor Director Roy Johns resigned this week after several months of criticism from Democrats. Salary for the director of the new Commerce Department would be $18,500. The director of the New Licensing and Registration Department would receive a salary of $18,000. House bills to stagger the terms of circuit court judges in Macomb and Wayne Counties also were passed by the Senate and ordered given immediate effect.

Milk Pricing Bill Fails In Senate

LANSING (UPI) — The State Senate Wednesday failed to take action on the controversial Milk Pricing Bill while agreeing to amendments to double the uninsured motorist fee. The lawmakers also agreed on bills providing homestead tax exemptions for persons over 65 and disabled veterans and on salaries for 19 department heads under the new Reorganization Act. Two attempts to get action on the milk bill, which would have regulated the price of milk and prevented its sale as a loss-leader item, failed by votes of 19-4 and 18-5. Lawmakers were deluged by hundreds of telegrams and letters last spring from persons who thought the price of milk would be raised because of the legislation. Prevent Monopoly The letters following the publication in newspapers about the state of an advertisement by the Kroger Co., claiming the price of milk would go up if the measure passed. Proponents of the measure also said they hoped the bill could prevent a monopoly situation from arising in the milk industry. Motorists without insurance who expect to get a license this year would have to pay an uninsured motorist fee of $50 under one amendment passed by the Senate. The Senate also passed, by a 38-0 vote, a bill to give immediate effect to a House measure providing homestead tax exemptions for persons over 65. Labor Director Roy Johns resigned this week after several months of criticism from Democrats. Salary for the director of the new Commerce Department would be $18,500. The director of the New Licensing and Registration Department would receive a salary of $18,000. House bills to stagger the terms of circuit court judges in Macomb and Wayne Counties also were passed by the Senate and ordered given immediate effect.

His proposal failed, and the bill squeaked by with just three more votes than needed for passage, 59-38, despite pleas from some members to hold it over until today so lawmakers could study the plan. In explaining his "no" vote, Starr charged the age criterion was "illogical and inequitable" and the administration provisions were "difficult and expensive."

He said revenue figures showed his payment plan would cost about $1 million more in payments, but administration costs would be cut drastically. Rep. Roy L. Spencer, R-Attica, also charged the bill and its companion would bar "thousands of needy senior citizens" from "qualifying because of the gross income provision of $5,000."

"It means that virtually all senior citizen farmers and small businessmen with gross receipts of more than $5,000 will not be covered regardless of the fact that they may be bankrupt and poverty stricken." But backers of the bill said there had been no formal opinion from Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley on the matter and there would be time next year to amend the bill if necessary. Fact Cited The insurance bill prompted long debate and several moves to send it to the House Judiciary Committee for further study which would have killed it for this year. But proponents said the bill was necessary because of an agreement reached by Gov. George Romney and sponsors of the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund Act last summer that such legislation would be "promptly enacted."

The bill, which finally passed by a vote of 65-28, almost intact despite a string of amendments, would require all insurance companies to write uninsured motorist coverage in their policies beginning Jan. 1. Fund Hunt The squabble over the bill centered around the uninsured motorists' fund, due to go into operation Jan. 1. Opponents of compulsory uninsured motorists' insurance claimed the bill would all but wipe out the need for the fund, as drivers are required to receive benefits from their insurance companies first before filing a claim with the fund.

John Mitchell, Civic Leader, Taken By Death

John J. Mitchell, immediate past president of the Chamber of Commerce, civic leader and businessman, died Wednesday night in his sleep at his home at 1021 Lake Shore Drive.

He and Mrs. Mitchell had attended a meeting of the Escanaba Yacht Club Wednesday evening. He had not been ill recently and his death was attributed to a heart attack. He was 63 years old, and was born March 27, 1902, in Spalding.

A partner in the Sawyer Stoll Timber Co. of Escanaba, he had been associated with the firm for more than 40 years. He had lived in Escanaba for most of his lifetime, was a graduate of Escanaba High School and served in the U. S. Navy in World War I.

His interest in the community was exhibited in many ways, including membership in civic groups and service clubs and a willingness to accept the responsibilities of leadership in many organizations.

John J. Mitchell

He served the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce as its vice president and then as president; was a president of the Escanaba Kiwanis Club; and was president of the Delta County Historical Society in 1964 when the Society was co-sponsor of the highly successful Iron Ore Centennial.

Mr. Mitchell's leadership of the Chamber of Commerce brought to it a year of outstanding successes, including the attraction of new members to attain the largest membership roll in the organization's history. He was an eloquent spokesman for all of the organizations he served and was frequently a speaker at functions in the area.

He was vice president of the Better Speech and Hearing Society; counselor of the Prison Counseling Service of the State Branch Prison at Marquette; and was a past secretary of the Escanaba Municipal Band.

An ardent sailor, he was one of the founders of the Escanaba Yacht Club and served as its commodore at various times through the years. He encouraged young people to interest themselves in sailing and annually taught water safety and navigation classes.

His enthusiasm for boating extended into the field of marine history and he was author of the "Of Men and Ships" chapter in Escanaba's Century Book; and he actively encouraged development of an outdoor marine museum at the Municipal Dock.

Surviving are his wife, Kathryn, a brother, Robert Mitchell of Marinette and a sister, Mrs. George (Bernice) Howard, Spring Lake, N. J.; a stepson, James Morin of Evanston, Ill.; and three stepdaughters, Mrs. Calvin (Nancy) Larson of Denver; Mrs. Ward (Sue) Schram of Milwaukee; and Mrs. Joseph (Martha) Thompson of Hawaii. Boyce Funeral Home is in charge of the funeral arrangements, which have not been completed as yet.

Viet Nam GI Needs Pistol

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — A Marine serving in South Viet Nam has sent money to his parents, asking that they purchase a sidearm for his use against the Viet Cong.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Koutnik Jr., Bellaire, said the letter from their son, Lance Cpl. Gary O'Dell, 22, was written Oct. 2. O'Dell is serving with the Third Marine Division in the Chu Lai Peninsula in South Viet Nam. The letter contained a $100 check.

"I want you to cash it and get me a 45 caliber service pistol and a military holster," O'Dell wrote. "I wouldn't ask you for it if I didn't think it was important for me over here. There are many places that a rifle is positively of no use."

O'Dell told his parents his battalion commander told him he could have a personal sidearm "because he realizes the importance of them."

"When we search caves, tunnels and so forth, a rifle is too big and a pistol is just perfect," he said.

In earlier letters, O'Dell said some of the tunnels used by the Viet Cong were three or four miles long. In one, he said, troops found a complete hospital. He said many of the tunnels had false bottoms and dead ends.

Three Fined For Hunting Offenses

Leroy Scheeneman, 20, of Route 1, Bark River, John Alfred Fisher, 19, of 403 S. 8th St., and David George Delforge, 17, of 1714 Grand Ave., arrested Oct. 12 on hunting charges were fined by Justice A. J. Mortier of Gladstone on the same day.

Scheeneman was fined $15 for using a shotgun capable of holding more than three shells in hunting waterfowl in Portage Marsh.

Fisher was fined $20 for hunting in the wildfowl refuge south of Ludington Park. Delforge was fined $35 with $20 suspended for shooting late in Portage Marsh.

Chicken, Turkey Best Protein Buy For Your Family

The following guide to the nation's food shopping buys for this weekend was prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Week-end shoppers generally will find good supplies of vegetables.

There should be a good quantity of poultry, and production of meats is high in some areas.

A careful shopper, checking specials and promotions, can find some good buys.

For a good protein buy for your family, get chicken and turkeys. Roast beef and steaks continue to be generally good buys in most markets.

In the vegetable market, brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, peppers, potatoes, radishes, squash, sweet potatoes, and tomatoes are in good supply.

A word to the wise: Good buys include apples, bananas, grapefruit, grapes, oranges, and melons. Many vegetables and fruits are having record harvests.

Nationally, fish sticks and canned tuna are plentiful.

Mrs. Richard Bryson says her "co-ed mother," Mrs. Mildred Munson, has set some kind of record at Bay de Noc Community College.

"She had to know the names of our congressman and senators," said Peggy Bryson "and she had to know them in 5 minutes. She couldn't quickly put her finger on the information and passing a man servicing a canteen in the college hallway, she asked: 'Who is our representative?'"

"Lady," the man said "you've got to be kidding?"

It was State Representative Einar Erlandson (D-Escanaba) who owns and operates a local vending service and who was sparing a driver that day. Einar is a state and not a U.S. representative, but he had that information, too.

State President Visits Escanaba Eagles Aerie

A special meeting of Escanaba Aerie 1088, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and the Auxiliary, was held Tuesday in honor of the state president, George Blackstock, who is on an official tour, and Mrs. Blackstock.

Blackstock, main speaker of the evening, listed the six goals set for the year which include: state projects, Michigan Disaster Relief Fund, Michigan Blood Bank program and Michigan Safety program; and national projects, Ralph Bird Memorial Library, Eagle Village at Bradenton, Fla., Max Baer Heart fund, High Sky Range for Girls, Cancer Fund and Korea House 15.

A buffet lunch, arranged by members of the Auxiliary, was followed by a fellowship hour.

Powers Plant To Be Expanded

Capital needed for expansion of a machine tool manufacturing company in Powers has been oversubscribed by local investors.

Expansion of the Upper Peninsula Machine & Engineering Co. is announced by David O. Farrand, industrial development specialist for UPCA (Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress). The expansion will enable the company to more than double its manufacturing space, said Farrand. It manufactures custom built machine parts and employs 16 men at present on two shifts. Upon completion of the new plant addition, an additional 24 machinists will be required to operate the planned three shifts to meet the influx of orders, said Farrand.

Executive officers of the company are Alvin Kinberg, president, and Willard Ledger, vice president.

Customers include the J. I. Case Co., Marinette Marine, Dorr Electric, and Harnischfeger Corp.'s Escanaba and Milwaukee plants.

Upper Peninsula Machine & Engineering Co. built the prototype of the orbital engine invented by Walter Niemann of Powers. The motor is now in Ann Arbor undergoing tests and is being evaluated by several engineers for manufacturing and development potentials.

Farrand, who arranged the financing for U. P. Machine, said, "The expansion was made possible by a group of citizens headed by Walter Veraghen and Jack Dault in the Power-Spalding area who strongly believe in retention and development of local industry."

Financing consists of 5 years notes bearing 6% interest and backed by a sinking fund to retire the indebtedness. The Bank of Stephenson will act as depository and is escrow agent under the terms of the agreement between noteholders and the company.

Seaway Adds Shipping Days

DETROIT (UPI)—Three days have been added to the official navigation season on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The American and Canadian Seaway entities announced today that the closing date has been extended from Nov. 30 to Dec. 3, U.S. Seaway Corp. Administrator Joseph H. McCann said the decision was made after an analysis of the past six years of operation.

"December 3 appears to be a more realistic formal closing date," he said. "Then, if the weather is favorable, we can stay open on a day-to-day basis after that."

The Welland Canal's closing date of Dec. 15 remains unchanged.

It was also announced that next season's official opening will be April 15 for the Seaway and April 4 for the Welland Canal.

The two Seaway organizations announced they are conducting technological studies to improve Seaway operations in the closing days of the season when weather in the St. Lawrence River is always unpredictable and often quite severe. Starting Nov. 15, ship masters and owners will receive three weekly reports on water temperatures and ice formations in the navigation channels.

Selling Our Beef

Michigan State University's agricultural experts gather and work like beavers at the Upper Peninsula sales of young beef stock each fall. It's MSU agricultural economic dogma that the U.P. has a future in the raising of young beef animals on its grasslands for the feed lots of Lower Michigan corn farmers. MSU agents implement this policy, trying to show practically that there's a profit to be made in this business.

Hugh Henderson, an MSU livestock specialist, says that 250,000 beef animals are fed on Lower Michigan farm feed lots each year and that fewer than 50,000 of them are produced in Michigan. The rest of them are imported from other states and Michigan could be supplying them and enlarging its farm income.

The Bay de Noc Beef Producers Association is a progressive co-operative formed by farmers who breed beef animals in the middle Upper Peninsula and they conduct an annual sale of their young stock—calves and yearlings—to feed lot operators. This year's sale was held at the co-op's new auction yard at Rapid River on Tuesday.

The average price per hundredweight for all the animals sold was under last year's average, $21.31 compared with $21.93. It was reported that the feed lot operators had a short corn crop this year in Lower Michigan. This might affect the number of animals bought, but isn't impressive as a reason for lower prices.

MSU livestock specialists, who have done such a good job of guidance in creating a baby beef industry in the Upper Peninsula as a means of marketing its forage, say that our beef breeders are improving the quality of their animals every year.

But when the buyers from the Lower Peninsula are questioned it becomes clear that there's still work to be done if the U.P. is to make an assured profit—and especially a general profit—from the young beef cattle business. The average price of the sale doesn't point out its weak spots.

One feed lot operator who bought more than 400 head at this year's sale said he wouldn't touch its heifer calves. "I bought too many that were pregnant last year," he said. "I just quit buying them. I had 375 pound heifers that were pregnant. They can't let the bull run with the herd if they're going to sell me heifers."

He said he lost 3 per cent of his young animals last year to disease. The Bay de Noc Beef Producers are stressing sanitation in their operations and this threat should be minimized.

There still remains the prejudice against a sale in the Upper Peninsula as compared with those at Gaylord, West Branch and elsewhere downstate. "It's pretty hard on young stock; that long pull," said a feed lot operator. The economics of the situation compensate for the transportation cost by pricing animals at the Delta sale lower than the Gaylord sale price by about the difference in trucking costs.

U.P. breeders say they must get at least $100 income from a beef cow a year. MSU livestock specialists agree that they must do this for a profitable operation and add that they can do it handily if they will breed animals that will grade in the top categories of quality and if they will breed them at the right time so they'll go to sale at desirable age and weight.

One lot of 36 heifers sold for $19.50 per cwt and brought less than $10 apiece. The cows that bore them didn't do well for their owner and the owner didn't do well by them. Animals should average 150 pounds at least, be in the top grades and average $26 per cwt or $25 overall. Then the breeders would be taking home $117 a head.

The judgment of experts on the market was that the steer calves sold at reasonable price when well and timely bred. The late light calves hurt the averages and so did the suspect pregnant heifer calves, which were 7 cents under the steer calves.

The sale's offering of crossbred beef animals (Holstein and Hereford) also appeared less than the feed lots' ideal. They may work out easily for a dairyman who wants to run some beef, but when they go to market they're not tiffany. They're apt to go to the cattle jockeys trying to make a fast buck, not the feeders looking for quality.

The Doctor Says:

Alcohol, Drugs Don't Mix

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—If an alcoholic is taking Antabuse or Temposil, a drink will make him terribly sick. Could he die from it? Where can one buy these drugs? How often does one have to take them? Can one drive a car while taking them?

A—Yes, it is possible for a person who is taking these drugs to get a fatal reaction if he is so foolish as to take a large amount of alcohol. That is why these drugs should never be given without the patient's full knowledge and co-operation. Disulfiram (Antabuse) can be purchased only with a doctor's prescription. Citrated calcium carbimide (Temposil) is said to be better tolerated and to cause an unpleasant but less severe reaction when followed by alcohol. It is available in Canada and has been approved only for experimental use in the United States.

These drugs must be taken daily to be effective. They have no harmful effect when taken in the recommended dosage even for a prolonged period except that persons with diabetes, goiter, epilepsy, insanity, cirrhosis of the liver or kidney disease should not take them.

They would not affect a person's ability to drive a car. Their use is limited, however, because anyone who has the motivation to take the drug every day usually has sufficient will power to refuse to take a drink.

Small Lakes Fish Fleet, Catch Limit In Prospect

By JAMES CARTER

Of The Russell Newspapers

Michigan's century-old commercial fishing industry is on the verge of extinction unless new harvesting, processing and marketing techniques are put into use soon.

This was the verdict reached at a parley of federal and state fish and game men and representatives of the commercial fishing industry held in University Center at Northern Michigan University Oct. 11.

Attended by about 70 persons, the Lake Superior Commercial Fisheries Conference was called by Rep. Raymond F. Cleverger, (D-Sault Ste. Marie) and moderated by W. F. Carbine, Ann Arbor, regional director, U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

Although lamprey eel control was "successful" and restocking of lake trout and other related species "going along very well," there was unanimous agreement among the dozen speakers that drastic steps must be taken now to save the commercial fishing industry and to expand sport fishing on Lake Superior.

New Methods Needed

A generally dark picture of the faltering industry was painted, at least in terms of its vitality in the past, and at best, only guarded optimism was the outlook for the future.

As in mining and forestry, Cleverger pointed out, new techniques must be used now to best utilize the resource of fish in Lake Superior.

"The industry is in tough shape," said William R. Dryer, Wis. supervisor, Lake Superior Biological Station, U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Ashland, Wis.

Since the peak year of 1941, catches of trout in Lake Superior have decreased 90 per cent, mostly in the last decade, and herring has fallen off 60 per cent in late years.

Revitalization of both commercial and sport fishing industries will require an entirely new approach to the problem of fish depletion. This new attack on an old problem will tentatively include:

1. A big step in the trout planting program.
2. State regulations of the number of commercial fishermen and the size of their catches.

3. Updated harvesting, processing and marketing methods, and
4. More emphasis and a higher priority on sport fishing.

Limited Entry

It was pointed out that fishing regulations are in the hands of the Michigan Department of Conservation and are not controlled by federal agencies. Of all Great Lakes waters, 41 per cent are under the jurisdiction of Michigan.

A new plan aimed at curing the ills of the fishing industry, "limited entry," would control the number of licenses issued commercial fishermen.

This would be necessary, because the maximum renewed reproductive capacity of Lake Superior could not adequately support the number of commercial operations it once did.

Dr. James W. Moffett, Ann Arbor, director, Biological Laboratory, U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, noted that Lake Superior has several factors which deter fish propagation.

Chief drawbacks are the limited number of feeder streams which are good sources of water nutrients, extreme average depth accounting for excessive cold water and resultant less plant and other aquatic food and rocky bottom.

Better Usage Urged

He also cited a constantly changing shoreline which rules out adequate growth of water plants, and the clean, clear water with very low contents of calcium and phosphorus.

"Pure water doesn't always produce abundant biological life," Moffett said. Lake Superior relies heavily on rainfall to keep its level as its area of drainage is relatively small. This rainwater, although pure, is extremely low in plankton. Prevailing northwest winds constantly churn up lake water, allowing for little warming and consequent plant growth," he added.

A fish species, once established in Lake Superior, tends to live longer than in the other Great Lakes, he said.

Average production of fish in Lake Superior is one pound per acre, Moffett noted. "The lake isn't capable of yielding much more than this."

He suggested a main aim might be to make better use of the fish by improving harvest, processing and marketing, rather than relying on a greater production of fish.

"Michigan should be in the fore in both the commercial and sport fishing industries," said Dr. Howard C. Tanner, Lansing, chief, Fisheries Division, Michigan Conservation Department. "All possible attention will be given to the increased activity and vitality of the industry."

Limited entry is not yet legally within the scope of the Conservation Department, Tanner said. "New legislation will soon be introduced to give the Department jurisdiction. It needs to enforce new rules and regulations along this line."

Ontario and Minnesota officials already have been given the powers to enforce limited entry, and the Wisconsin legislature is considering a similar bill.

We have two masters to serve," Tanner said. "The commercial fisherman and the sportsman. It is a difficult situation and we are frequently in the crossfire."

About 100 commercial fishing operations still exist on Lake Superior.

Birchers Under Fire

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — While blasts at the John Birch Society by some leading Republicans represent a clear turning point, they reflect only the barest beginnings of a change.

For one thing, the GOP's leadership attitudes on this subject are far from monolithic. At least two well-known Republicans have privately voiced regret that Kentucky's Sen. Thruston Morton and others chose this particular time to stir up the animals.

With innuendos for the 1966 elections now being drawn, these leaders would prefer to see the issue of the Birchers and other right-wing extremists left in the background. This is the moment, they say, for organizing.

More than a few top Republicans, furthermore, think Birch infiltration of the regular GOP organization is being gravely exaggerated.

One leader adds, however, that it was evidence of such infiltration in six Kentucky counties which helped persuade Morton it was time to act. He was even more strongly influenced, of course, by word that South Dakota's staunchly conservative Sen. Karl Mundt will likely have a Birch primary opponent in 1966.

This prod to Morton, whose party job it is to help elect GOP senators, suggests some accident in the timing of the party's anti-Birch blasts. This appears to be true. The follow-up statements by Sen. Everett Dirksen and Rep. Gerald Ford, GOP Senate and House leaders, were unmistakably forced by the pressure from Morton's unequivocal declaration.

Notwithstanding this chancy element in the timing, the anti-

Birch assaults do fit into a general stiffening of party attitudes toward the radical right which is showing itself in a variety of ways.

At a top board meeting in New York, the National Republican Women's Federation quietly put off from 1966 to 1967 its next national convention. The surface reason was the long-expressed wish to hold these biennial affairs in noncontested years. The powerful reinforcing reason was to gain more time for the fight to block the presidential bid of Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, Illinois Republican who wrote the celebrated, arch-conservative book, "A Choice, Not an Echo."

Recently in Lansing, Mich., GOP State Chairman Elly Peterson and her allies successfully crushed a rightist effort to grab control of the Michigan women's group.

Kansas legislator Thomas Van Sickle, new head of the Young Republicans and a man who triumphed at Miami as the "Goldwater candidate," said a few days ago in the Midwest that the Republican party has no room for the radical right.

It is perhaps significant that, as long ago as last December, a staunch Goldwater lieutenant declared that, for the sake of its future prosperity at the polls, the Republican party would have to seize early opportunities to separate itself sharply from the smothering embrace of the far right.

In the view of one thoughtful key Republican in Washington, such action is indispensable to the return to the GOP fold of those many moderates who fled the party in 1964 in fear of what they saw as extremism. The strong rightist coloration is also thought to be a barrier to attracting young voters.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 YEARS AGO

Dear Mr. Olafson:

Is there such a thing as wild tomatoes as I saw some growing in a brush pile while hunting and also would you call baby venison veal or mutton.

(signed) Jernstrom

Answer—Yest there is wild tomatoes as I under stand that is what they threw at Willie in Detroit and you can call Baby Venisons either Veal or mutton depending how close you are to the game Warden.

At the Franklin Parent-Teacher Association meeting, Mrs. Joseph H. Shipman will speak on home safety.

50 YEARS AGO

The champion big egg laying hen of Delta county is among the missing.

W. P. Belanger was once her proud owner and but a week ago he displayed down town an egg from the champion of his flock, that measured 8 1/2 by 6 1/2 inches. The egg was treasured highly and so was the hen that produced it. With visions of achieving fame through his hen, Belanger began to lock his chicken coop nights. But a bold highwayman with a penchant for fancy pullets learned of the reputation of the Belanger chick and scoffing off at the locks and bars, entered the coop, picked out the prize hen and went his way. Belanger still has the egg and detectives are searching for the hen that produced it.

Effects of competition are being keenly felt in the Great Lakes area and throughout the nation. Dr. Virgil Norton, Washington, D.C., division of economics, U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, said.

From a position of second in world production of fish in 1950, the United States has slipped to fifth this year. The domestic demand is high, but is being increasingly met by imports, he said.

While the price of poultry has been going down, that of beef remaining about the same, the cost of fish is increasing. Prices paid the commercial fisherman on Lake Superior average 5.7 cents per pound for herring, 16.7 cents for chubbs, 55.6 cents for whitefish, 39.5 for trout, and 3.2 for smelt.

"The average fisherman is spending more time, using more gear, and getting less fish—resulting in less profit," he pointed out.

Norton said that last year, only 45 fishermen in the American waters of Lake Superior were grossing $4,000 or more in fish sales, with a large number of them just "hanging on." In order for a fisherman to clear $5,000 per year, he has to gross at least $22,500 in sales, Norton stated.

Photographers, both amateur and professional, are exploited and imposed upon by thoughtless friends and relatives. I hope this exchange will give them the courage to say "No" to those who try to take advantage of them.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been going with a lovely young widow for about 18 months. Barbara lives in another city but we see each other every weekend. We are in love and plan to be married. Barbara told me early in our friendship that her husband killed himself.

Somehow my mother and sisters learned about the suicide and they are trying to talk me out of marrying her. They say when a married man kills himself it means his wife failed him.

Barbara is sensitive and insecure; her life has been a trying and lonely one. I believe it is unfair to say she failed her husband and I resent the suggestion that she is a poor marriage risk. I'd like your views. — COLOR ME BLUE.

Dear Blue: First, about your family: Color them vicious. Suicide is an irrational act. A husband or a wife who has to live through the nightmare should be spared the burden of guilt feelings. If you love the woman and want to marry her I hope you will disregard your family's cruel insinuations. Good luck and God bless you both.

Dear Ann Landers: May I say a word in defense of the amateur photographer who was criticized by the bride's parents because he took only 21 pictures of their side of the family and 63 pictures of the groom's side?

To begin with, he made the pictures as a favor, not as a paid professional. At drug store prices the photographer laid out between $21 and $30 for film, bulbs, processing and prints. If they had hired a professional, it would have cost them at least $200 for 84 8x10's.

I would advise "Amateur Photographer" to destroy the negatives and then sit back and enjoy the expressions on their faces when they ask for additional prints. And they will. — FILM-FLAMMED.

Dear Flammed: My newspaper photographer friends tell me you are far too conservative in your cost estimates. They say it would cost more than $30 to produce 84 decent 8 x 10 prints.

Dear Flammed: My newspaper photographer friends tell me you are far too conservative in your cost estimates. They say it would cost more than $30 to produce 84 decent 8 x 10 prints.

Photographers, both amateur and professional, are exploited and imposed upon by thoughtless friends and relatives. I hope this exchange will give them the courage to say "No" to those who try to take advantage of them.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been going with a lovely young widow for about 18 months. Barbara lives in another city but we see each other every weekend. We are in love and plan to be married. Barbara told me early in our friendship that her husband killed himself.

Family Dislikes Suicide Widow

Dear Ann Landers: I've been going with a lovely young widow for about 18 months. Barbara lives in another city but we see each other every weekend. We are in love and plan to be married. Barbara told me early in our friendship that her husband killed himself.

Somehow my mother and sisters learned about the suicide and they are trying to talk me out of marrying her. They say when a married man kills himself it means his wife failed him.

Barbara is sensitive and insecure; her life has been a trying and lonely one. I believe it is unfair to say she failed her husband and I resent the suggestion that she is a poor marriage risk. I'd like your views. — COLOR ME BLUE.

Dear Blue: First, about your family: Color them vicious. Suicide is an irrational act. A husband or a wife who has to live through the nightmare should be spared the burden of guilt feelings. If you love the woman and want to marry her I hope you will disregard your family's cruel insinuations. Good luck and God bless you both.

Dear Ann Landers: May I say a word in defense of the amateur photographer who was criticized by the bride's parents because he took only 21 pictures of their side of the family and 63 pictures of the groom's side?

To begin with, he made the pictures as a favor, not as a paid professional. At drug store prices the photographer laid out between $21 and $30 for film, bulbs, processing and prints. If they had hired a professional, it would have cost them at least $200 for 84 8x10's.

I would advise "Amateur Photographer" to destroy the negatives and then sit back and enjoy the expressions on their faces when they ask for additional prints. And they will. — FILM-FLAMMED.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Great news, Sarge—you've been cleared on that charge of 'police brutality'!"

Romney Pushes GOP Campaign

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Michigan Gov. George Romney has called for a national Republican party conference to hammer out "a superior program" for the 1968 presidential election.

Speaking to a GOP fund raising dinner in honor of the 75th birthday of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the governor said development of such a program could not be limited to party leadership alone.

"We need to undertake this task in an atmosphere as free as possible of the suspicion, contention and maneuvering among potential candidates for national office," Romney said.

Romney said he would propose at the next meeting of the National Republican Coordinating Committee that a conference, to include rank and file party members as well as GOP leadership, be called in the Spring of 1967.

Romney said the objective of such a conference would be to "build and agree on a program which will be superior to this jumble of short-sighted policies masquerading as a 'Great Society'."

"I ask you to remember this, if you remember nothing else of what I say tonight," Romney said, "We need Republican victories to save America."

Romney said a conference such as he proposed helped put Eisenhower in the White House in 1952 and has worked to unify Republicans in Michigan.

Grand Rapids To Vote On Ward Redistricting

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—The public will vote next February on whether to reshuffle the city's three wards on a one-man, one-vote basis along the lines of congressional redistricting.

The City Commission recently approved putting the issue on the ballot.

The three wards line up with 19,511 registered voters in the first, 33,301 in the second and 37,511 in the third. In order to maintain a continued balance, the resolution, which the city commission instructed the city attorney to draw up, will ask for reapportionment of wards, if necessary, on the basis of voter registration within each year after each federal census.

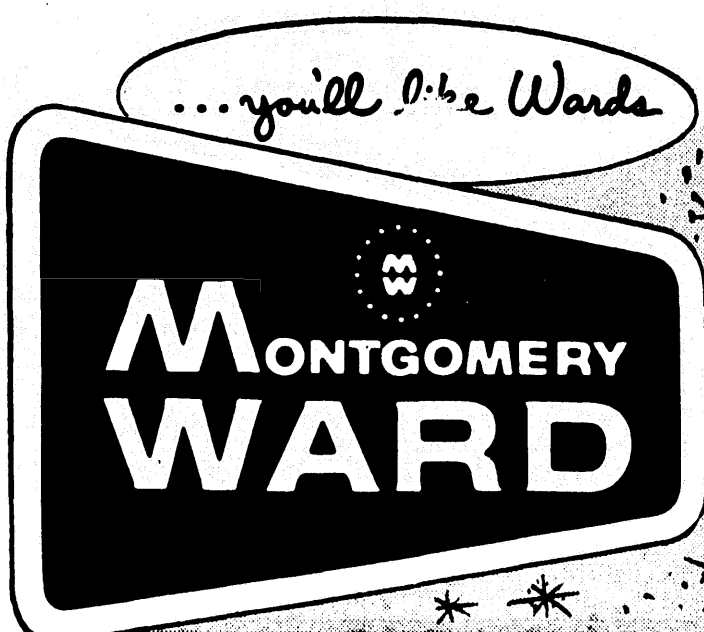

Narcotics Trial Scheduled For U-M Student

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A University of Michigan student who was arrested with five other youths last week for possession and sale of marijuana, has been bound over to circuit court for trial.

Bound over was Michael McClatchey, 18, following a preliminary examination. Five witnesses testified, including a State Police laboratory technician who identified the substance seized by police as marijuana.

McClatchey's bond of $1,000 was continued for his circuit court appearance Nov. 4. The examinations of four other persons arrested with McClatchey were adjourned. A fifth had pleaded guilty last week.

How food fads can fool you:

We don't mean there's anything wrong with eating yogurt and wheat germ and so on. They are fine, healthful foods. But here's the rub. Advocates of some food fads promise benefits that diet alone can't deliver. Occasionally, someone with a medical problem will try to solve it by living mostly on cabbage juice or some such thing. Special foods and diets, however, have limitation—can be harmful when improperly used. So if you think there's anything wrong with you, by all means see your physician.

Hints From Heloise

Old Nylons Make All Purpose Mop

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear folks:
Here's one for the books... If you will take four or five old nylon stockings, hold them up by the toes so they will all be the same length, and tie them in a knot in the middle of the whole kit and caboodle, then take your scissors and cut the feet and tops off all the same length (as long as you want 'em), you'll have the niftiest scouring rag you ever saw!

These free mops are just wonderful for washing the tub, scouring all the fixtures, and, best of all for washing dishes! They don't sour or smell, and make a wonderful cleaning rag when scouring the sink with cleansing powders, etc.

You can make these help-selves with as many, or as few, old nylons as you wish. You can cut the ends as long, or as short, as your little heart desires, too.

Another thing I discovered is that you can take an old nylon and tie a knot above the ankle part, fill it full of shredded nylons (cut some up in strips with your scissors), tie another knot, and cut the end off, and you have the greatest little padded thingumajig you ever saw!

This can be used for so many things. It's a dilly for washing the car! Doesn't scratch at all, can be rinsed like lightning, and is so light weight that it handles like a bubble.

This little dream is wonderful for taking a bath! Real invigorating!

But the best part of it all is that it's absolutely free. So why not at least try it?

Love,
Heloise
Dear Heloise:
Attention, mothers who have nylon mesh playpens for their babies:

Should a strand of the net tear, as mine did while assembling the pen, grab the trusty dental floss to mend it. I can hardly find the mended spot, and it is holding up beautifully.

Mrs. James C. Jackson
Dear Heloise:
I have a new use for nylon net.

I take four thicknesses and make a pocket about six or eight inches square, sew three sides together, leaving one end open.

Then I sew a piece of tape on one corner (long enough for my hand to go through), and hang it on my wrist, and put my hand in the pocket with a bar of soap when bathing or showering.

It's just wonderful.
Minnie
Dear Heloise:
My refrigerator is an older model which has to be defrosted.

Time after time, I've started defrosting it, gone on about my work, and forgotten all about it. No more!

Now I write "DEFROSTING" in large letters (a red crayon is perfect) on a sheet of paper, and use a magnet to attach the sign to the refrigerator door.

Every time I go through the kitchen, the sign catches my eye, and reminds me to check to see if the defrosting is completed, so I can finish the task and turn the refrigerator back on.

Muriel Coates
Dear Heloise:
To prevent soiling small items of clean clothes, by dropping them on the floor when removing them from dryers:

Keep a square of clean "has-had-it" thick fabric (like a bath rug or quilt), folded clean side in, near your dryer, and spread it on the floor before you open the dryer door. Why wash them at all if you're going to drop them on the floor right away and get them soiled again?

Mary V. Loughman
Dear Heloise:
To prevent them from raveling, I always use pinking shears when cutting up rags to use as dust cloths.

Billie Ruehlman
Dear Heloise:
Here is another use for nylon net:

My husband had an accident, and his arm is in a cast. There are professional slings which can be bought, but they are not as nice in appearance as the nylon net sling I made for him.

One yard will make two slings, always having a spare. As the net comes in 72 inch width, I just cut it in half, (making two squares), then fold it once into a triangle.

The net can be bought in colors to match the upper garment. (Example: Navy for good suits. White for sport shirts etc.)

Once tied, it will not loosen from position. A musician's strap can be used for cushioning along the back of the neck if necessary.

This may not be the most useful every day hint to pass on to the readers, but accidents do happen!

Mrs. Ira Goldstein
And, think of all the nylon net scrubbers you can make when he is finished with the slings!

Heloise
Dear Heloise:
Did you know that candle stubs, when melted down to fit, can be used as emergency corks for bottles?

Tamara Breton
Dear Heloise:
I am a manager in the furniture department of a large department store, and I tried the homemade furniture polish which I read about in your column, on all of the furniture which I have on display, and was amazed at the results.

I am now passing along this recipe to all of my customers who purchase furniture in my department.

Thanks millions for your wonderful hint.
Furn. Dept. Manager
Folks, we have had so many compliments on this homemade furniture polish that we are going to repeat the recipe for those of you who might have missed it:

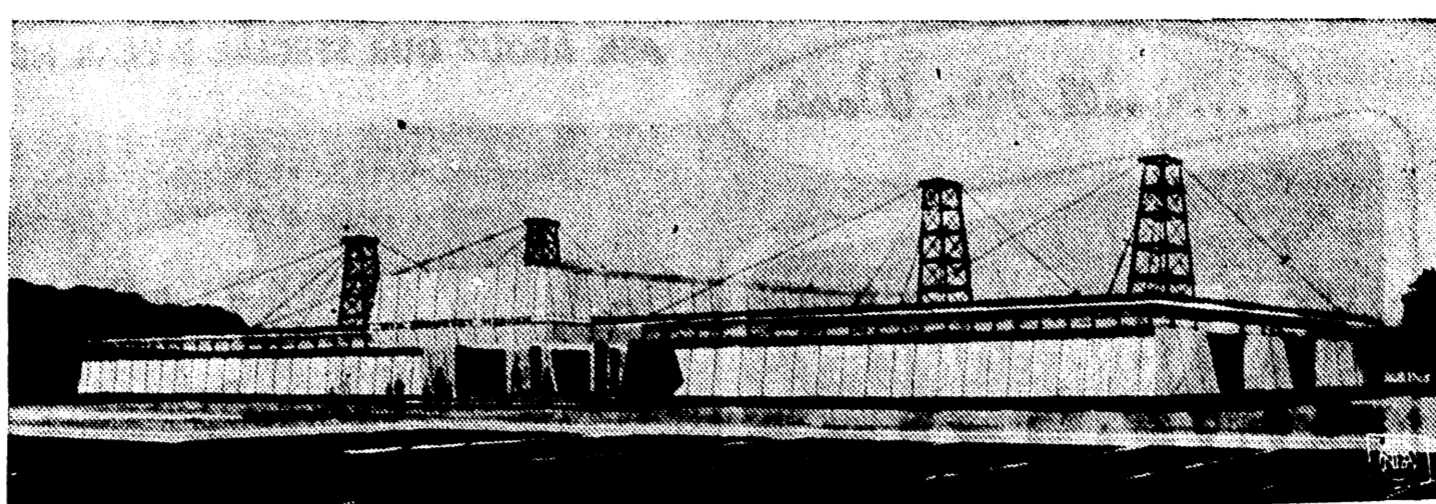

USE ONE-THIRD CUP OF EACH:
Boiled linseed oil
Turpentine
Vinegar
Mix together, and shake well before using. Pour on soft cloth to apply, and wipe completely dry with another clean soft cloth afterwards.

DON'T try to boil your own linseed oil - it ain't the same! BUY IT at paint or hardware store.

This is a formula sent in by Antique Dealers.
Heloise
Dear Heloise:
I have a five-month-old son, and I was busy this morning, and could not entertain him. So I put him in his crib and turned on a small transistor radio nearby. I tuned in to soft music and poetry. (If you will search the dial, you can find nice music!)

He was absolutely enchanted, and kept "talking" to the radio. And, mother could get on with her work!

Warren Fireman Ask Referendum On Pay Raises

WARREN (UPI) — Warren Firemen currently receive $312 a year less than policemen. Last month, the Warren City Council granted police a $212 a year pay hike. Firemen did not get it. Firemen complained that during the last two years, the salary of policemen has climbed $312 per year above that of firemen.

They propose that the charter be amended to require equal pay and equal fringe benefits for policemen and firemen.

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — A parked car was knocked off the roof of a seven-story garage and plummeted into a busy downtown street Wednesday morning, narrowly missing scores of persons. Nobody was injured.

Protests Spice Homecoming

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — What could be the most interesting part of homecoming at University of Michigan this weekend is not even on the program.

Friday and Saturday are not only homecoming at Ann Arbor, they also are international days of protest by some groups against the war in Viet Nam. The protest against United States Policy in Viet Nam by U-M students is one of more than 100 planned for this weekend in U.S. cities and seven foreign countries.

The students, who range from the committed to the confused, plan to display their discontent with U.S. policy in Viet Nam through several parades, a seven-hour vigil on the campus center, a sit-in at the Ann Arbor selective service office, a memorial service for Viet Nam war dead, and other activities.

Most of the remaining 30,000 university students have their minds on the Michigan-Purdue football game, the big Friday night pep rally, a gigantic 60-unit homecoming parade, featuring alumnus astronaut James McDivitt and the Righteous Brothers homecoming concert.

Neither the university administration nor the Ann Arbor City Council is particularly pleased about the prospect of protest activities conflicting with homecoming. The administration has made no public move. However, by a vote of 6-5, a street march planned for Saturday by the protest committee was banned by the Ann Arbor City Council Tuesday. As a result, this march will take place on the sidewalk.

Meanwhile, another campus group has solicited over 1,000 signatures for a telegram to President Johnson endorsing his stand in Viet Nam. The telegram will be sent Saturday.

Dale Ball New State Ag Chief

B. Dale Ball of East Lansing is the Michigan Department of Agriculture's new director. A frequent visitor to the Upper Peninsula, he is known by hundreds of U. P. farmers.

The new Director of Agriculture has served as the Department's Deputy Director since 1953, under former Director G. S. McIntyre, who resigned to accept a position with Michigan State University.

Mr. Ball, 50, lives at 637 Grove Street, East Lansing, with his wife Francis and daughter Barbara, 14. A son Jim is a medical student at Northwestern University.

The new Director of Agriculture has had a life long association with agriculture. Born on a Livingston County farm, he worked his way through Michigan State University by milking cows in the college dairy barn. He graduated with a Bachelor of Science Degree in soils, farm management and animal husbandry in 1939. Following graduation, he taught Vocational Agriculture for five years at Yale and Lapeer. In 1951, after six years with the Soil Conservation Service, he joined the Michigan Department of Agriculture as Coordinator of Institutional Farms and Herds. He was appointed Deputy Director in 1953.

Appointment of the Director was made by the five-man Commission of Agriculture, policy making body for the large state agency. Members of the Commission are: Chairman Edward

B. Dale Ball

J. Wright, Saginaw; Vice Chairman Donald R. Barden, South Haven; Secretary Blaque C. Knirk, Quincy; Kay D. Sleik, Iron Mountain; and R. K. Stout, Marshall.

Upon learning of his appointment, Mr. Ball said: "This is a tremendously responsible and challenging position. I look forward to the opportunity to be of service to this dynamic industry, and intend to do my best to carry out policies of the Commission of Agriculture."

He continued: "Michigan's proud position in agriculture has been won through combined efforts of many, including the Department of Agriculture staff, the Legislature, the executive office, farm and commodity groups, and others. If my direction is to prove a success, it will be with the continuation of this cooperation, and especially with the aid of the Department's top-notch staff."

Divisions within the Michigan Department of Agriculture are Administration, Dairy, Food Inspection, Finance, Laboratory, Livestock Disease Control, and Plant Industry. Department duties include consumer protection through enforcement of more than 100 laws. These, for example, assure the public of a wholesome milk supply, disease-free nursery stock, and inspected meats.

Through reorganization of state government under the Executive Organization Act of 1965, the Department's responsibilities will increase greatly. Eight other agencies and commissions will be merged into the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Jew, Catholic Bond Backed

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council today overwhelmingly backed a statement stressing the bonds of brotherhood between Catholics and Jews.

The vote was 1,937 to 153 in the first of three ballots on the controversial council declaration dealing with the Jewish people and anti-Semitism.

The council also voted on a key passage of the declaration which takes up the charge of "Deicide" (God killing). But the result of the ballot was not announced. It was this passage which in the document's original form exonerated the Jews of being a "God-killing" people and which has since been revised.

The opening paragraph of the Jewish declaration approved today stressed that Catholics have a common heritage with the Jews in the Old Testament and their common father, Abraham.

Augustin Cardinal Bea, the German-born head of the Secretariat for Christian Unity which drafted and revised the declaration, defended the change from charges that they watered down the document.

Cardinal Bea said the new version "excludes unjust affirmations and accusations made against all Jews without distinction living at the time of Christ and today." He said the Jews cannot be held "guilty of the condemnation of the Lord and therefore rejected by God and accursed."

TWO-STORY AT ITS BEST—Second floor of this two-story home has three large bedrooms, two baths and multiple closets. The first floor has large living room, separate dining room and convenient kitchen and dinette. The family room, powder room and storage area are new in design. Architect Derick Kipp, Room 704, 48 W. 48th St., New York, N.Y. 10036, designed HA414K. The plan has 1,470 square feet on the first floor and 1,130 square feet on the second.

Find Mastadon Slaughtered By Early Indians

The first association between man and the American mastodon has now been proven as a result of a recent expedition directed by Dr. Warren L. Wittry, Cranbrook Institute of Science archeologist.

Scientists have long known that mastodons and a certain type of Indian existed at the same time, Wittry said. But until now no evidence has been found to establish an association between them.

Opportunity to score the scientific first began in the spring of 1964 when Gottlieb Rappuhn, while plowing on his farm near North Branch, uncovered what turned out to be the jawbone of a mastodon.

A tooth was brought to the Bloomfield Hills museum but it was not until last August that work at the site — by then sitting in the center of a good crop of beans — could be scheduled.

Bones Charred

Wittry and his five young men assistants conducted a six day "dig" and unearthed many of the bones of the mastodon which roamed the earth some 6,000 to 14,000 years ago. This one somehow met his death in a prehistoric bog on the now Rappuhn farm.

"This mastodon was an old male," Wittry said. "He was using the last four of the 24 molars he had during life. His bones were somewhat scattered but enough of them bore a relationship to each other so that the site of death could be accurately determined."

"In relation to the collapsed rib cage, the bones of the right hind leg were roughly where they should be. Bones of the leg were similarly placed. The atlas (bone to which the skull articulates) was at the head end. Bones of the feet were widely scattered and provide one of the best clues as to the association with man. Many of them are charred in a manner which indicates that flesh and cartilage were present when the burning took place."

"The skull, found 20 feet away from where it should have been, shows definite signs of having been pried loose from the atlas. Some of the bones bear numerous scratches suggestive of knife cuts."

"The mandible (lower jaw) was 12 feet away from the skull in a direction away from the principal concentration of bones. None of the bones, including the mandible and skull showed signs of having been scavenged by animals. Their remote positions are interpreted as a result of having been put there by man."

Ribs Cut Away

Wittry said that radiocarbon dating tests, now under way, will establish the approximate date of death.

An interesting layer of poles was found in the area between the body and the skull, Wittry pointed out. Poles were all of the same diameter, averaging 3 inches. There were some sticks of smaller diameter positioned clearly in a stratum above the poles. These were unquestionably cut by beavers.

But, Wittry explained, this wood layer is not characteristic of beaver construction and may very well be a platform built by man to gain a foothold next to the mastodon's body.

"However, the association of man with the Rappuhn mastodons is proven beyond a doubt by the fact that most of the ribs found in the excavations were cut away from the vertebrae," Wittry declared.

"The edges of the articular surfaces are grooved with knife marks and some are broken, evidently when pried away from the backbone. Planned further work at the site may produce additional evidence, hopefully in the form of stone tools and weapons."

Russ, U.S. Make Space Data Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has announced a new agreement with Russia under which the two countries will jointly publish information they have gleaned on the effects of space flight upon men and other living creatures.

It also was disclosed that the Soviet Union for the first time will be ready "within a few months" to carry out a 1963 agreement to exchange weather satellite information with the United States.

Russia has never publicly announced the launch of any weather satellite. The United States has launched nine in the Tiros series and one in the more advanced Nimbus series.

Understanding Reached

Under an "understanding" reached by U.S. and Soviet space officials in New York last week, both sides soon will be trading weather satellite observations "on a continuing basis."

This was taken here to mean that Russia plans a series of new launches more or less matching those of the United States.

The new agreement will go into effect automatically in the absence of objection from either side within two months.

Both the space biology and weather understandings, described by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) as "satisfactory," were reached by Soviet and U.S. representatives at a United Nations conference on peaceful uses of space.

Tension Relaxed

Some officials were inclined to view them as at least a mild relaxation of the stated Soviet position that Russia could not enter into major agreements with the United States while this country is involved in Vietnam.

The space biology agreement also was viewed as a tacit acknowledgement by the Soviet Union that this country, notably with the record-breaking Gemini 5 flight in August, has as much information to give in this field as the Russians.

Detroit Girl Shot In Back

DETROIT (UPI) — A 17-year-old high school girl was in serious condition today after she was shot in the back by an unidentified gunman Wednesday as she walked along a northeast side street.

Police said Jeanette Dantzler was struck in the back by a small-caliber bullet. She was reported in serious condition at Holy Cross Hospital.

The wounded girl told police she saw two youths and a girl standing in front of a home on the street moments before she was shot. "The boys yelled something at me, but I ignored them," Miss Dantzler told police.

"Then I felt a pain in my abdomen," she said.

Police said the girl was taken to a nearby gas station by a passerby who summoned police.

Witnesses told police three cars passed near the girl at the time of the shooting but none was seen picking up speed.

State Surplus May Not Last

LANSING (UPI)—If the Michigan Legislature continues in a free spending mood, the record $135.5 million state surplus could be whittled to only $4.5 million in two years, according to the Citizens Research Council.

The bipartisan council reported that the surplus could be reduced by $131 million by July 1, 1967, if the legislature passes six revenue measures pending this session and continues to overspend state income at the present rate.

The council said the state is now committed to spend $37 million more than its revenue intake in the current year. Passage of six pending bills would cost between $11.4 million and $18 million this fiscal year to boost the maximum overspend to $55 million by July 1, 1966.

Assuming state revenues remain about static, the six spending bills would cost $39 million in 1967, which when added to the built in excess of $37 million would total $76 million.

Thus, according to council figures, the surplus would be whittled by $55 million by mid-1966 and by an additional $76 million by mid-1967, leaving a total of $131 million off the current $135.5 million surplus.

The figures, even though they fail to take into account possible increased tax revenue in the next two years, appear to support warnings by Gov. George Romney and tax-reform minded lawmakers about a deficit in the treasury by mid-1968.

However, the report probably won't raise the eyebrows of legislators opposed to tax reform. Some contend new taxes could be avoided by tight-fisted spending and others describe a deficit of up to $50 million as "manageable."

The six spending bills, which the council said would cost about $47 million over the next two years, were (All costs computed on the first full year of operation):

—A measure, passed by the legislature and sent to Gov. Romney, to merge all county welfare departments, except those in Wayne and Oakland counties, with a state agency. Estimated cost $6.1 million per year.

—A $12 million allocation to smaller state colleges and universities to compensate for enrollment increases above those anticipated in budget bills. The measure has passed the Senate and awaits House action.

—Raise the amount of property tax exemption under the Veterans' Homestead Act by $1,500 at a cost of up to $4 million annually. Passed the House and awaits Senate action.

—Transfer of nursing care for the aged from the Old Age Assistance program to the Medical Aid for the Aged program at a maximum $6.7 million a year increase. Passed the House and on the Senate floor.

—Property tax relief for elderly homeowners at a $15 million a year cost to the state. Passed the Senate and in the House.

—And, rent reimbursement to the needy elderly at a $6 million a year cost to the state. Passed the Senate and in the House.

Ford Criticizes Federal Spending Of 'Great Society'

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Michigan, contended Tuesday night that President Johnson's "Great Society" program is putting the federal government's financial stability near "the breaking point."

The congressional leader warned of increased inflation in a talk before a fund-raising dinner of Adams County Republicans.

"President Johnson's Great Society program and the Viet Nam war are costing us an additional $20 to $25 billion more dollars this year than was originally anticipated," he said. "Of course, not all of these funds will be expended in one year."

Ford charged there is "strong reason to believe that much federal spending is mishandled under the Democratic administration."

Five Students Jailed At MSU

LANSING (UPI)—Five youths arrested in a Viet Nam peace demonstration at Michigan State University were jailed Wednesday when a hat-passing bid to raise bond fell short.

The five, all students at Michigan State, demanded a jury trial when arraigned in a tiny courtroom jammed with about 25 of their friends. The five defendants and their supporters said they belonged to the Committee to End the War in Viet Nam, a group which has announced a series of nationwide protest demonstrations today.

Lansing Township Judge George Hutter set bond at $100 each for Peter Van Horbeck, 19, James Dukarm, 18, and Fred Hanvran, 21. He set $200 bond for Howard Harrison, 23, and Albert Halprin, 17, both of whom have been arrested previously in demonstrations.

Their friends passed a hat but failed to raise enough bond. The five youths were taken to jail while their friends started telephoning others to raise more money.

Police arrested the youths Tuesday when they ignored a police order to stop a demonstration and passing out literature at a Marine Corps exhibit during a career interview day at the university. Officers had to carry the five away.

The demonstration came only a few hours after the burial of Eugene Clark, 17, a Marine from Lansing who was killed in Viet Nam.

New Commission Asked To Solve Reapportionment

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Grand Rapids Atty. A. Robert Kleiner, co-author of the Austin-Kleiner plan used in redistricting Michigan legislative districts, Wednesday urged establishment of a commission to reapportion county boards of supervisors.

Kleiner, a member of the Michigan Commission on Legislative Apportionment, appeared at a hearing before the State Legislature's Apportionment Committee here.

Kleiner said that experience with the legislature's failure to reapportion itself shows the necessity for a commission to change county governments, "because of the built-in bias to protect possible re-election."

The committee hearing here was one of a series. Others will be held in Kalamazoo, Oct. 19; Traverse City, Oct. 20; Livonia, Oct. 25; Iron Mountain, Oct. 27; Port Huron, Oct. 28; and Detroit, Nov. 4.

Home And School Council Meets At St. Joseph's

Many members of the St. Joseph Home and School Council heard Father Lawrence Gauthier explain some of the important provisions of the Education Acts of 1965 at their monthly meeting.

He cited the Johnson Education Act and the Michigan Auxiliary Service Law as two important pieces of legislation that will help the Catholic schools make great strides and change the face of education in America.

The Johnson Education Act was the first major federal aid to education bill for elementary and secondary schools, he said. Money coming to the school districts will not be given to the non-public schools directly, but will be administered by the public school authorities. Citing the three provisions of Title I under this Act, Father Gauthier felt that the special education services and the special education teachers would be more beneficial than the shared time or dual facilities provision.

Under Title II of this Act, library needs will be made available and he pointed out that the books and material will go to the children and not to institutions, and that such materials are made available in the non-public school on a loan basis only, and again the public authority will administer control over such materials.

Father Gauthier concluded his informative talk with praise to Michigan's State Board of Education and to parents who are truly concerned about their children's education.

It was announced by Council president, John Sankovitch, that the Halloween Carnival will be held as a family activity Oct. 29 from 7 to 9 a.m. in the church basement. Father Jordan Telles, O.F.M., reminded members of the Fall Festival Oct. 17.

A new member of the school faculty, Norman Pangonis, was introduced.

Next month, Miss Leona Daugherty, faculty member of Bay de Noc Community College, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. Wayne Courier, room mother for the first grade, was chairman of the refreshments for the evening.

Children in grades 3-6 of Christ the King Lutheran Sunday School, and others who have a parent who is a member of the parish, will have an outing Friday. GLADSTONE

Bequest Is Made For Scholarships

The Gladstone Scholarship Fund will benefit from a gift that may reach $265,000, bequeathed by the late Ralph J. Rains, it was revealed at the filing of his will in probate court in Delta County.

Mr. Rains, Gladstone businessman, died Friday after an illness of about three months. He was former owner of the Ben Franklin Store and of the Rains Variety Store.

His will calls for separation of the residue of his estate into two trust funds of equal size. Interest from both funds go to his widow, the former Lily Christenson of Negaunee, during her lifetime.

Mrs. Rains will have the power to bequeath the funds in one of the trusts. The other will revert to the Scholarship Foundation upon her death.

Estimated size of the estate

according to figures presented to the court is $265,000. There is in excess of $200,000 in cash and securities, some shore property on the east side of Little Bay de Noc and the home here and another in Florida.

Mr. Rains in 1948 had purchased about four miles of frontage on the east side of Little Bay de Noc, subdivided it and had since sold off some three-quarters of the frontage.

The Gladstone Scholarship Foundation was established in 1959. Supt. Wallace Cameron "spark-plugged" the organization after learning about a similar foundation in an eastern city.

The foundation raised some $3,000 in its first drive, has since added in excess of $25,000 more.

Fifty students have been assisted with sums of up to $400 per year which they have pledged to pay back to the Foundation after graduation from college.

Gary Nieuwenkamp is president of the Foundation and John Greene is treasurer.

Collegian Held In Kidnap-Rape

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (UPI)—Walter Robert Mott, a baby-faced Long Island college student accused of the kidnap-rape of an 11-year-old Girl Scout, was held today while authorities decided who would have jurisdiction in the case.

A federal warrant charged Mott, 20, with kidnaping the girl from New Jersey, but authorities in New York State and New Jersey have brought charges in connection with the alleged rape of the frail school girl last Tuesday.

Mott was arrested Wednesday at his grandmother's house in Hagerstown. An FBI agent and a Maryland state trooper had stalked out the home of Cora Deloso and grabbed Mott as he arrived.

"We knew where his relatives were and we were watching for him," the FBI said.

Authorities in New Jersey were expected to start extradition proceedings against the youth today.

Mott, who got out of jail Sept. 5 after serving a term for car theft, had been sought since Tuesday when the girl identified him as the youth who grabbed her from the washroom at her school in Fair Lawn, N.J. She was raped repeatedly during a five-hour drive to Long Island where she escaped.

Mott was arraigned before a U.S. commissioner on kidnaping charges and lodged in the Washington County jail in Hagerstown.

Bonds Offered On New Gym

Bonds for the new High School Gymnasium will be placed on the market for sale on Nov. 3 according to word received by Wallace Cameron, Supt. of Schools.

The firm of Canfield, Miller, Paddock and Stone will receive bids on the $300,000 bonds which were approved by the State last week.

Cameron said he expected final plans to be completed about Nov. 11 but ground will not be broken before spring. If all goes well the building should be ready for use by the second semester of the 1966-67 school year.

Plans for the gym call for a regulation floor which can easily be divided for use for separate gym classes permitting the Physical Education department to offer a more complete program. Seating capacity for the gym will be enlarged.

Prosecutor Drops Charges In Labor Shotgun Incident

PETERSBURG (UPI) — Prosecutor Paul Braunlich said today the owner of a construction site "feared for his father's life" when he fired a shotgun blast at a union official's car.

Braunlich said he had decided not to file charges against Daniel Wilkins, 32, owner of the 50-acre site in Monroe County and son of Howard Wilkins, president of a manufacturing firm which is building a $300,000 factory on the site.

The shooting occurred Monday during a picket line battle between about 225 Building and Construction Trades Council pickets and non-union employees working on the building.

The shotgun blast hit a car driven by Walter Sacharzyk, a Teamsters Union business agent and president of the Port Huron, Mich., Building and Construction Trades Council. Sacharzyk was not hurt.

Braunlich said the younger Wilkins' fear was spurred by the tense picket line situation.

"There were more than 100 pickets present at the time," Braunlich said. "The electric and phone lines had been cut, and the pickets had pelted rocks at a rail hand car."

"There had been threats to Wilkins' father and other (non-union) workers. Two cars had been damaged by slashing tires and windows of employees' cars were broken."

Thieves Strip Stolen Auto

NORTH ANDOVER, Mass. (UPI) — A week ago Benson Williams of Holbrook reported his Volkswagen stolen. Tuesday police found some of it.

Missing from the car were the gas tank, hood cover, doors, fenders, dashboard instruments, spare tire, seats, seat belts, roof light, steering wheel, headlights, radio, glove compartment, license plates and the engine.

And the thief had replaced the four new tires with four old ones.

College Seeks New President

BENTON HARBOR (UPI) — The board of trustees of Lake Michigan College will meet Monday to discuss hiring a new president to replace Dr. Robert E. Lahti, who resigned his $15,500 a year post.

Dr. Ewart W. Ardis, University of Michigan, and Dr. Roy Robinson, Wayne State, both placement officers, are co-operating with the trustees in their search for a new president for the 1,100-student two-year college.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Noontime Thief Strikes Again

Gardens of Rest Cemetery office in Escanaba was broken into Wednesday noon and about $45 in cash is missing, city police said today.

The thief was the "noontime burglar" who has hit offices in the downtown area, including the offices of two doctors within the past few months.

As in the other entries, the thief inserted the blade of a knife or other thin instrument beside the door lock to open it, and then forced open a safe or cash drawer.

The Gardens of Rest office is upstairs at 705 Ludington St. and the burglar gained entry through doors leading into offices recently vacated by the State Highway Department.

Briefly Told

Escanaba police have issued a traffic court summons to Robert E. McDougall, 906 2nd Ave. S., speeding and drag racing.

Ludington Adds Second Hostel

Senate Begins Sugar Hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee, with an eye on adjournment, today began intensive hearings on legislation to set quotas for domestic and foreign sugar suppliers for the next five years.

The bill, approved Wednesday by the House, is one of the final "must" pieces of legislation that must be acted upon before Congress can close up shop for the year.

Committee leaders, in scheduling the day's hearings, put more than 30 witnesses on notice to be ready to testify before the day was over. No Senate floor session was scheduled, giving the panel the entire day to conduct hearings.

As approved by the House, the controversial bill would allocate 65 per cent of the U.S. market to domestic suppliers and 35 per cent to foreign suppliers. The debate in the house centered on allocations to foreign countries.

Attempts failed in the House to add amendments which would have penalized countries which hire high priced lobbyists in an attempt to get favorable quotas.

No strong attempt to change the bill was expected in the Senate. Several members were prepared to offer alternative proposals, however, creating a possible block to plans for swift approval.

Other congressional news: Headstart: A Senate appropriations subcommittee scheduled a hearing into an investigation of a Project Headstart operation in Edwards, Miss., prompted by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss. subcommittee investigators and representatives of President Johnson's war on poverty were to appear.

Kohler: Foy D. Kohler, U.S. ambassador to Russia, was to go before a closed session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee's subcommittee on Europe to brief them on recent developments in U.S.-Soviet relations.

Sales: Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said he was drafting legislation to crack down on mail order real estate operators who cheat elderly persons out of their life savings by selling them useless or undesirable retirement homesites. The bill would bring such mail sales under federal regulation.

Miss America Is Too Much

LANSING (UPI) — At least one newspaper believes it difficult, maybe impossible, to interview Miss America—especially when she stands close, smiles and sort of glows right in your face.

Not only did the reporter fail in a determination to ask some incisive questions, he even failed to take legible notes during an interview with Deborah Bryant here Wednesday.

If it hadn't been for a less-radiant public relations man, who repeated several times that Deborah was here to help kick-off the Community Chest fundraising campaign, both the newspaper and this space would be blank.

The public relations man also managed to communicate the information that Deborah had toured the Oldsmobile Plant here, was "only 19 1/2-years-old," was wearing a gold seude suit, has long, honey-brown hair, grey-blue eyes and comes from Overland, Kan.

The bowled-over reporter also has the impression that Deborah has pretty teeth, a nice nose and other distracting features. He also recalls that somewhere along the line she received a key to the city from Lansing Mayor Max E. Murningham.

Deborah, it is believed, leaves Lansing today for some other city and the newspaper wishes reporters there better luck.

Bill Lucier, coach of the Michigan Tech Huskies, had this to say following the impressive 29-0 victory over St. Cloud: "Concerning the performances of the new players, who finally had the chance to see some action, I was impressed with the job done by Clarence Ehlers at tackle." Ehlers is a sophomore who played football and basketball at Holy Name High School.

Tom Miller, publicity director of the Green Bay Packers, writes that Don Chandler's record breaking punt in the fourth quarter of the game against the 49ers traveled 84 yards in the air and rolled out of the end line for a total distance of 112 yards. It will go down in the record book as a 90 yard kick for a modern record, breaking the previous mark of 88 yards by Bob Waterfield on a quick kick against Green Bay Oct. 17, 1948.

Tom Downes, former Gladstone athlete who started at middle guard for the University of Wisconsin against Nebraska last week, will be shifted to right tackle for Saturday's Big Ten clash with Northwestern Saturday.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association Bulletin for October lists appointments to state association committees which involve a number of Upper Peninsula men. Named to the Athletic Officials Committee were Glen Gamble of Escanaba and Gene Wodzinski of Stanhaugh. Adolph VanCitters of Soo and Wayne Siskler of Calumet were appointed to the football rules committee. Dave Pelletier of Garden and Jerry Pangrazzi of Marquette to the track and field committee and Bill Howes of Rudyard and Ken O'Connor of Pickford to the basketball rules committee.

Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, ex-major league mound star, will be the speaker Friday morning at the Michigan Education Association regional meeting in Iron Mountain. Gomez, 34, was a New York Yankee pitcher from 1931 to 1942 and set an all-time record with a 6-0 record in World Series competition. His speech is titled "Keep Your Eye on the Ball."

Bill Hart, former coach and current athletic director at Marquette High School, has been elected to succeed William J. Cook, who was not a candidate for re-election, to the Class A-B representative on the Upper Peninsula Athletic Committee. Bruce Warren of Trout Creek was re-named the Class D representative on the committee which governs high school athletics in the Upper Peninsula. James Sheridan of Ironwood was re-elected Class A-B representative on the state council.

Rocky Blier, who will be remembered by Holy Name football fans as a star on the Appleton Xavier teams of a few years ago, is a promising sophomore at Notre Dame where he has already chalked up one touchdown this season. And Dick Berinski, the former Kingsford Flyer flash, has had spectators shaking their heads in amazement at his running performances with the Michigan State freshman team.

Negaunee St. Paul closed out a perfect baseball season in the Mid-Peninsula league with a 10-1 victory over Champion. Coach Torreano fired a three hitter and fanned 17 batters. The St. Paul strikeout artist boosted his season total of whiffs to 84 in 37 innings. He won six of the nine straight victories posted by Coach Gordy LeDuc's team.

This season will go down as the year of tie games in Upper Peninsula high school football. The sixth deadlock of the season came Saturday night when Iron River and Stanhaugh battled to a 6-6 draw in the Menominee Range Conference. Stanhaugh scored early in the game on a six yard burst by Steve Shepich and Iron River knotted it in the second period on a short drive by Bob Baumgartner. Redskin quarterback Dane Dominici connected on 15 of 28 passes for 167 yards.

Gilmer Shakes Up Lion Lineup For Pack Game

DETROIT (UPI)—The play and Studstill both were playing ers grumbled and Coach Harry offense. Gilmer was nonchalant as the Detroit Lions went through an unprecedented scrimmage and were thoroughly shaken.

Gilmer, the thought of the season slowly falling apart for his Lions, ordered the 20-minute scrimmage after announcing he would drop two regulars from the starting lineup at least for next Sunday's game with the Green Bay Packers at Tiger Stadium.

Demoted from starting positions were end Jim Grooms, Detroit's most valuable player of 1964 and a regular at tight end for eight seasons, and line-backer Ernie Clark.

Firecracker, Fists The scrimmage produced one fist fight and made some of the players grumble. End Pat Studstill and halfback Tom Watkins swung at each other a few times before they could be separated. Someone else at the scrimmage hurled a firecracker, but the scene was not jovial enough to bring a laugh from any of the players.

The scrimmage came as a shock. The Lions had never had a scrimmage once the season began and sometimes ended heavy contact work when the preseason state began. Gilmer sent his first string offense, minus quarterback Milt Plum and split end Gail Cogdill, against a collection of second-string defensive men. Cogdill, out the first four games with a broken kneecap, will probably start at his position against the Packers. George Izo quarterbacked the scrimmage.

Gilmer surprised As the players hammered each other through 18 scrimmage plays, suddenly Watkins and Studstill came out swinging. Gilmer explained fights were common during scrimmages between the offensive and defensive units. However, Watkins

Two Wolverine Games Slated This Weekend

This weekend's football schedule includes a pair of Wolverine Conference games at Bark River-Harris and Rock. The winless Little Giants will host the Powers-Spaulding Tigers Friday afternoon. Bark River entertains Pembine in a Saturday contest.

Eskymos Resume Grid Rivalry With Marines

The Escanaba Eskymos resume their football rivalry with an old and respected foe Saturday night when they travel to Marinette for a non-conference battle starting at 8.

Escanaba will carry a 3-3 record into the contest while the host Marines have won three, lost two and tied one against the stiffest competition available in Wisconsin prep circles.

Marinette ranks as one of Escanaba's oldest football foes, dating back to the 1898 season, the second year the sport was played by the high school team. Only Menominee and Iron Mountain were on the Esky schedule a year earlier.

In the long series the Marines held an edge of 22 victories against 13 defeats and 1 tie. The last time the teams met was in 1957 when the Eskymos were blanked, 33-0. Marinette won the last five games played by the two teams, and shut out the Eskymos in four of them.

Coach Jerry Cvengros today listed his starting lineup for Saturday night, with several question marks because of injuries which have dealt the team a crippling blow through the season.

At ends will be Ed Gauthier and Tom Bjorkquist, at tackles Mike King or Bob Myrvall and Jim Hansen, at guards Bruce Craig or Jim Buckley and Marty Oslund, at center Tim O'Brien.

The Esky backfield will be made up of Steve Anzalone at quarterback, Bob Haack and Ray Payment at halfbacks and John Anderson at fullback.

Slated for front line duty on defense are Paul Miller, Jack Long, Dan Scheuren, Dave Nyquist and Bob Irish.

The Eskymos lost their last start to Alpena by a 6-0 margin in the first meeting between the schools. Other Esky setbacks were suffered to Ishpeming and Kingsford. Escanaba has registered victories over Menominee, Stephenson and Marquette.

Following the trip to Marinette, the Escanaba schedule will close at home with games against Iron Mountain Oct. 23 and Holy Name Oct. 30.

Marinette's three victories this fall were fashioned against Wausau, Wisconsin Rapids and New London. The Marines bowed to high-ranked Eau Claire Memorial by a 21-0 margin last week, with all the touchdowns coming in an action-packed five minute period near the end of the first half and the start of the second.

Junior varsity teams will meet at the Marinette gridiron at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, right, pitched and batted the Minnesota Twins to victory in the sixth game of the World Series at Metropolitan Stadium Wednesday, sending the affair into today's windup battle. At left is Claude Osteen, Dodger starter yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

Grant set the stage for today's seventh game finale when he held the Dodgers to six hits and hammered a three-run homer off reliever Howie Reed in the sixth inning for the clincher.

The 30-year-old Minnesota right-hander, who will lead his own song and dance group on post-series tour and who will do considerable singing himself, out-pitched Claude Osteen to square the series at three games apiece and end a three-game Dodger winning streak.

First Loss For the left-handed, 26-year-old Osteen it was his first loss ever to the Twins after having defeated them in five straight games while a member of the Washington Senators and then adding a sixth victory over them in the third game of this series.

Grant struck out five batters, didn't walk a man and had all the runs he needed after Bob Allison tagged Osteen for a two-run homer in the fourth.

Official statistics for pass receiving, scoring and runbacks released today show Gogolak with nine field goals and 10 extra points in four games this season, placing him within one field goal of tying one major college mark and surpassing another.

The next field goal the Hungarian-born kicker boots will be his 21st in three seasons with Princeton and will tie the modern mark set by Georgia Tech's Billy Lothridge from 1961 through 1963. His 37 points this season gives him 126 for his varsity career and puts him just two behind the record for most career points by a kicker set by Hugh Morrow of Alabama between 1944 and 1947.

Twilley is within range of surpassing the career record of 176 grabs set by Washington State's Hugh Campbell in 1960-62. Twilley, who leads the nation with 46 catches this season, is only four shy of the record.

The 5 foot 10, 180-pound passer-catcher is also closing in on two other career marks. He needs just 261 yards receiving to surpass the 2,453 total set by Campbell and needs four touchdowns passes to break the record of 23 set by Vito Ragazzo of William & Mary from 1947-49.

While Twilley and Gogolak continue to lead in pass receiving and kicking, only Bill Jackson of Marshall, the nation's scoring leader, maintained his first place position in the other statistical departments.

Jackson, a junior halfback, has scored nine touchdowns for 54 points and leads Chuck Hughes of Texas Western by only a slim six points. Hughes, the receiving half of the great Miners' passing combination, is second to Twilley in receptions with 34 but leads in yards gained with 838.

Pacesetters in other individual categories this week are Nebraska's Larry Wacholtz in punt returns with 309 yards, Oregon State's Bob Grim in kickoff returns with 376 yards and Notre Dame's Nick Rassas and Wake Forest's Joe Carazo in interceptions with five each. Rassas also has the best punt return average of 22.3 while Pittsburgh's Eric Crabtree has the best kickoff return average of 33.8.

Emeralds Play Home Finale Friday Night

MANISTIQUE — Thirteen seniors will be playing their last home game Friday night when the Emeralds face the Marquette Redmen.

Parents will be honored in pre-game activity and at halftime the Booster Club will present the new concession stand to the student body.

Seniors in their last home stand will be Harold Toennesson, Ed Leonard, Dave Beaudry, Norm Saffer, Frank Kelly, Paul Klarich, Randy Busch, Ernest Haas, Tom Brawley, Doug Nelson, Jerry Belleville, Greg Soukup and Dan Tuftnell. Not appearing due to injury are Sam Burns and Jon Cameron.

Emerald passing had extensive review this week as the attack had diminishing results in the past three games, and is needed to bolster the running game.

Marquette is fresh from an upset victory over Ishpeming.

Packer Depth Major Factor This Season

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Coach Jack Christiansen, slumped on a chair after his San Francisco 49ers had been beaten by the Green Bay Packers, looked up when someone asked what impressed him most about the game.

"All 40 of the Packer players," Christiansen reflected. The remark reflected the widespread belief around the National Football League that, while the Packers aren't pulverizing opponents the way they used to, they have one of the deepest clubs the NFL ever has seen.

The manner in which they've won their first four games to emerge as the league's only unbeaten team bears out the contention:

—Reserves Zeke Bratkowski and Max McGee teamed on a 37-yard touchdown pass play in the closing seconds to beat the Baltimore Colts 20-17. It was only the second reception of the season for McGee, a 10-year veteran who has lost his starting assignment to Carroll Dale.

—Bob Long, a Swift second year man who didn't even play football from his sophomore year in high school until the senior year in college, replaced the injured Dale against the Chicago Bears and caught a 48-yard touchdown pass.

—With fullback Jim Taylor, who has gained 1,000 or more yards in each of the last five seasons, still bothered by a leg injury against the 49ers, the Packers turned to quarterback Bart Starr and kicking specialist Don Chandler for nearly 50 per cent of their first half rushing yardage.

Chandler, in his first ball carrying play in two years, lumbered 27 yards from punt formation to set up Green Bay's first touchdown. Starr helped another first half drive by scooting 14 yards for a first down.

The 31-year-old Chandler, acquired from the New York Giants during the off season, has been perhaps the Packers' biggest key in their bid to recapture the NFL western division title they won in 1960, 1961 and 1962. Many thought they would have won last year if Paul Hornung hadn't lost his place-kicking touch while sitting out the 1963 season with a suspension for gambling.

Chandler so far has kicked seven field goals in nine attempts, making the Packers a threat to score any time they cross an opponent's 40-yard line. And last week he got off a 30 yard punt, two yards further than the modern NFL record.

Injuries to Taylor and Hornung have slowed the Packer ground game so far, but Starr has taken up the slack to come on as one of the league's top passers. Through last week he had the NFL's best pass completion percentage, and the one interception he threw last week was his first in a year. He set a league record with 294 consecutive passes without an interception after Bobby Thompson of Detroit picked one off early last season.

The Packer defense again ranks as one of the league's best, even though veteran defensive halfbacks Jesse Whitenton and Hank Gremminger have surrendered their jobs to second year men Doug Hart and Tom Brown. Green Bay has allowed opponents only 50 points in four games, and three times a Packer has run back an intercepted pass for a touchdown.

Accomplishments like these might tempt a team to rest on its collective laurels, but the Packer coach is the perfectionist Vince Lombardi. He says he's still waiting for his team to put together four quarters of good football in one game.

Red Wings Tie Rangers, 4-4 KINGSTON, Ont. (UPI)—The Detroit Red Wings and the New York Rangers, exchanging goals throughout the game, played to a 4-4 exhibition deadlock here Wednesday night.

Bill Hickey put the Rangers into the lead early in the first period, but Andy Bathgate tied it up for the Wings late in the period.

Detroit took a 2-1 lead early in the second period on Gordie Howe's unassisted goal, but it lasted only 40 seconds until Donnie Marshall knotted it. The Rangers and Wings then swapped two more goals to end the game in a deadlock.

Hickey scored another goal for New York. Rod Gilbert tallied the final Ranger goal and Norm Ullman and Billie Harris also scored for Detroit.

MARQUETTE (UPI)—Northern Michigan lost left halfback Dennis Gorsline today for the rest of the season, the third offensive star to be sidelined in two days.

Gorsline suffered torn ligaments in his right knee in Tuesday's practice session. A spokesman said the halfback, a junior from Saginaw, would be out for the season.

Tuesday Northern, ranked among the top small college football powers in the nation until suffering a stunning 13-0 loss to Central Michigan last week, announced the loss of two other stars with injuries.

Gogolak Nears College Record In Field Goals

NEW YORK (UPI)—If Princeton kicker Charlie Gogolak and Tulsa end Howard Twilley play their normal game this Saturday, they may place themselves in the NCAA career record book for years to come.

Grant Hurls, Bats Twins To World Series Victory

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (UPI)—Jim (Mudcat) Grant, a swinging cat as well as a singing one, pulled the Minnesota Twins even in the World Series by beating the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-1, Wednesday with both his pitching and his hitting.

Grant set the stage for today's seventh game finale when he held the Dodgers to six hits and hammered a three-run homer off reliever Howie Reed in the sixth inning for the clincher.

The 30-year-old Minnesota right-hander, who will lead his own song and dance group on post-series tour and who will do considerable singing himself, out-pitched Claude Osteen to square the series at three games apiece and end a three-game Dodger winning streak.

Trolling Yields Good Catches

Good northern pike, walleye, bass and perch fishing is reported by the Conservation department in McDonald and Gulliver Lakes. Trolling with artificial baits has been most successful.

Northern pike fishing is good on the Manistique River, with fishing pressure light, and a few walleye, perch and northern pike are being taken with minnow bait in Indian Lake. Snyder Lake has fair fishing for perch and northern pike. Water conditions are high and side roads are in poor condition, the department notes.

In Mackinac County fair perch fishing is reported in Les Cheneaux area with the best catches coming from the west end of Muscallonge Bay, with worms and minnows the better bait. A few pike are being taken with live bait. Perch fishing is expected to be good in the coming week. A few rainbow trout are being caught in the Black River. Fishing is good for walleye and perch on Manistique Lake.

In Luce County, rainbow trout fishing is reported good on the Two-Hearted River with the largest fish taken by trolling off the mouth of the river. Flat fish appear to be the best bait. With south winds, Menominee fishing is expected to be good off the mouth of the Big Two-Hearted, Little Two-Hearted and Blind Sucker rivers.

Good catches of rainbow trout, up to 14 inches, are being taken in Camp Eight and Tank lakes. Walleye and perch fishing is fair on the Tahquamenon River, in vicinity of the Sage River, the mouth of the East Branch and Murphy creek area.

Three Days Left In Lions Drive

Only three days are left for the purchase of light bulbs in the all-out fund-raising drive sponsored by the Manistique Lions Club, with all proceeds going to support Lion's community service projects.

Dr. R. E. Hawn, chairman of the drive said many people have responded enthusiastically to the bulb offer and those who have not been called upon can get their bulbs by calling Walter E. Johnson, Indian Lake Road, Russ Paquette, Clint Leonard or Dave Setterlund. The drive will end Oct. 16.

N. Central Team To Visit School

Roll Calls Slow House, Senate

Electronic Voting Pressures Grow

By HARRY KELLY

and G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost a century ago Thomas A. Edison tried to sell Congress on an electronic voting system. The door was closed firmly in his face.

"It's the last thing we want here," a committee chairman told the great inventor. "Filibustering and delay in counting the votes are often the only means we have for defeating bad legislation."

Since then legislatures in 36 states have adopted some form of push-button voting and the United Nations has just put an electronic system in operation.

But both the U.S. Senate and the U.S. House of Representatives cling to the old system of calling the roll.

Roll-Calls Take Time

And in the House, with its 435 members, it's a long time from Abbott to Zablocki. In the Senate, with 100 members, calling the roll can be as fast as 10 minutes, but it usually takes longer.

How long the House can take was shown Sept. 13, the day the House broke the record for roll calls. In a 12-hour, 31-minute session congressmen spent nine hours answering 22 roll calls.

each lasting an average 24.5 minutes.

Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., estimates the House consumed as many as 70 working days just answering roll calls in the 1963 session that ran into Christmas Eve.

Pressure is growing for some sort of change. A special Senate-House committee, considering ways of changing congressional procedures is hearing arguments on electronic voting.

But particularly in the Senate there is resistance even to consider such machines. The Senate hasn't even been won over to the use of microphones and loudspeakers to carry the voices of its orators from end to end of the chamber and to the public galleries above.

The Senate years ago had electric outlets installed for plug-in mikes and loudspeakers, and that's the last anyone has heard about electronic talk devices.

As for voting machines, the senators like it the way it is. They seem to get a kick out of a ritual performance of stalling for time until brother and sister senators can reach the floor for a vote.

Lawmakers Often Out

In most state legislatures the lawmakers' offices are their desks on the floor, and they thus usually are on the spot when a vote is taken.

When the bells ring in Congress for a vote or a quorum call, members most often have to journey from one of three office buildings, a block or more away, and there has to be enough time for them to reach the floor.

Rep. D. R. (Billy) Mathews, D-Fla., argues against electric voting this way:

"I hope the American people will realize that when they visit

Man, 22, Shoots Romance Rival

SAGINAW (UPI) — Roy Lee West, 22, was held today on murder charges for allegedly shooting his rival for the affections of a teen-age girl whom he shot and wounded earlier.

Police said West shot the 18-year-old girl Saturday night. He claimed the shooting was accidental and was released Tuesday. West promptly went to the home of his rival, Clarence "Sonny" Pinson, 29, and killed him with a shotgun, officers said.

He was arraigned on murder charges yesterday and jailed pending a court hearing. No date was set.

the House and see only 15 to 20 of us present, there are 200 or 300 of us down at the Veterans Administration, and down at the Department of the Interior, down at the Labor Department, with our constituents, trying to help them, and when you have a roll call, you have 20 minutes to get back to the House."

Solution Proposed

Rep. William L. Springer, R-Ill., has seen electronic vote recording in his home state and believes it would work in Congress, too. But, he observed:

"I wouldn't expect the idea to be popular with members, if there are any, who wait to see how the vote is going before shouting yea or nay."

One solution has been advanced by a freshman member — Rep. Weston E. Vivian, D-Mich., a specialist in electronics engineering.

He proposed that machines be used, but that the vote not be reported finally and tabulated until after a specific length of time, comparable to the time now required by a roll call.

In the meantime, the House could go ahead with other business.

But Congress is not quick about changing its rules or traditions. It was only in recent years that its spittoons began disappearing.

Illinois Convict Sought In Killing

BENTON HARBOR (UPI)—A manhunt was 002if 3y in Michigan, Illinois and Kentucky for a dangerous ex-convict believed bent on killing his ex-wife and stepdaughter, after slaying the ex-wife's third husband.

Object of the manhunt was Willard Schubert, 49, of De Kalb, Ill., who Wednesday morning kidnaped Charles Bojack, 33, from his home here. The body of Bojack, shot through the head, was found late Wednesday in an orchard. Bojack was the husband of Mrs. Schubert's former wife, Mrs. Crine Bojack, 43, who told police Schubert invaded their home Wednesday morning and forced her husband to go with him in a pickup truck. The truck was found near Bojack's body.

Tells of Shooting

A father and son, Otto Milliken, 49, and Clyde, 26, who found the body, told Berrien County Sheriff's deputies that a man in dark trousers and white shirt, believed to be Schubert, walked up to them at a fruit stand in the Riverside area, just north of Benton Harbor, and told them "I've just shot a man between the eyes. He's down in the orchard. I'm catching a bus, and I've got two more to get rid of."

"two more" were Mrs. Bojack, and her daughter by her first marriage, Wilma Richardson, 21, who is now in Liberty, Ky., visiting her grand parents. Schubert was Mrs. Bojack's second husband.

Sends Threats

Mrs. Bojack told authorities that her former husband, who was paroled last August from a 1 to 20 year prison term imposed in Cincinnati, Ohio, for slaying her with a knife two years ago, had sent her threatening letters from De Kalb, and Chicago after his release. She turned the letters over to the Sheriff's office.

over Mrs. Bojack, and the sheriff's office notified authorities in Kentucky, asking for police protection for Miss Richardson. They also warned that Schubert was believed to be heading there.

Schubert is described as about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, with brown and gray hair.
